

After the success of Operation Walk Pittsburgh's inaugural trip to Antigua, Guatemala this past August, we are very excited to continue granting the wish to walk here at home.

In a few short weeks, during the week of Thanksgiving, the Operation Walk Pittsburgh team will conduct a local effort right here in town at Magee-Womens Hospital of UPMC. A group of patients will receive life-improving joint replacement surgeries just in time for the holidays! And we are proud that Operation Walk Pittsburgh is one of the only chapters in the country undertaking a local aspect of this work.

During the week of November 23, we will send daily updates and photos – similar to those sent during the August trip - so you will be right there with us every step of the way.
